Sushil Singh has advanced his career and become a citizen thanks to DICK’S
Sushil Singh is living the American dream. He has an incredible family, owns a home and has a rewarding career as a Principal Software Engineer at the CSC. For that, he credits DICK'S leadership and his teammates.

DICK'S sponsored Singh for a work visa earlier in his career and, this year, he proudly took the oath to become an American citizen.

With an assist from the Human Resources and Legal departments, Singh said he felt incredibly supported -- what can be a long or difficult immigration process went by without a hitch.

“Mine was like walking in the park," said Singh. “Everything was taken care of. They are such great people."

Singh has been a member of the IT supply chain team since 2004 and has advanced his career throughout the past 16 years. While Singh focused on expanding his abilities and strengthening his department, numerous people were hard at work ensuring he would remain a teammate and continue his ascent for years to come.

In 2006, Singh got married in India. His wife, Heena, moved to America that same year and, before even setting foot in the country, she had medical insurance and all of her paperwork was taken care of by DICK'S.

The couple now has a 7 year-old son, Vihaan, who loves tossing a football or shooting some hoops in the backyard. Vihaan is a budding athlete and also a big fan of his father's employer -- Sushil's career definitely has scored him some bonus points.

“My son thinks it's so cool I work in the sports industry," said Singh.

Singh hails from Delhi, a city in India. After completing his studies at Delhi University, he decided to chase his dream. For Singh, being a part of the DICK'S team has exceeded every expectation.

“I still love every single day working for DICK'S Sporting Goods," said Singh. “With my wife and my son, I am living the American dream."
