“Our 2021 portfolio is undoubtedly the richest and most diverse in our history, and we’re thrilled to deliver such a great assortment of groundbreaking accessories for the holidays,” said Juergen Stark, Chairman and CEO, Turtle Beach Corporation. “Our best-selling Turtle Beach console headsets continue to outperform the competition, while our ROCCAT PC peripherals rack up more high praise and grow share globally.”

Stark continued, “Beyond our best-selling and multi-award-winning gaming headsets and PC accessories we’ve now also launched the Recon Controller as well as the highly sought-after VelocityOne Flight simulation control system. Both products in these new categories have seen strong reviews and editorial accolades since launching. In fact, the Recon Controller was named a Best Xbox Controller by IGN, and VelocityOne Flight received a fantastic 9/10 review in the upcoming issue of PC Pilot Magazine, a highly respected publication among flight sim enthusiasts.”

“Additionally, the audio capture category is ripe for growth and we’ve recently introduced four all-new high-performance products from Neat Microphones. These products were designed for a variety of recording scenarios, whether you’re a studio pro and looking to replace your high-end equipment, or simply looking to improve the quality of your voice at home or in the office. Between Turtle Beach, ROCCAT, and Neat, there are plenty of high-quality, high-performance accessories for the gamers or performers in your house looking to upgrade their gear.”

Below are key highlights of some of the latest gear launched this year that should be added to your holiday lists:

Neat Microphones

The all-new generation of high-performance recording products from Neat Microphones is here. The Neat Microphones team is the same group of experts that founded Blue Microphones and have spent decades designing transformative, award-winning products that have changed how professionals capture their voices, music, and more.

Skyline – A simple, elegant USB mic requiring no set up – just plug it in and it works. Skyline is easy to use and looks great with any setup. Skyline outperforms the built-in mic on your laptop and is the perfect accessory for chatting clearly with family, friends, and coworkers. Available now. MSRP $69.99.

King Bee II – All hail the king. Neat's top of the line analog XLR microphone is coveted by recording enthusiasts for the studio-quality performance it delivers at a truly remarkable price. Vocals, drums, electric guitar, piano, and acoustic instruments shine with the King Bee II, and spoken word applications, from voiceovers to podcasting to streaming content, can be captured with crystal-clear clarity and depth. Available now. MSRP $169.99.

Worker Bee II – Heir to Neat's original analog XLR Worker Bee microphone that was often noted by performers and engineers as an ideal mic for capturing richly detailed vocals, as well as the precision of plucked and percussive instruments. Launches December 6, 2021. MSRP $99.99.

Bumblebee II – The Bumblebee II features a 25mm capsule – larger than any other product in its price range – to deliver full, rich sound that will set a new standard for what consumers and professionals get out of a high-performance USB mic under $100. Launches December 13, 2021. MSRP $99.99.
