

AGNICO EAGLE LAUNCHES NEW PODCAST SERIES – THE ARCTIC EDGE

New podcast showcases stories from Canada's frontier and the unique identity of Nunavut

April 14, 2025, Toronto, ON – Agnico Eagle Mines Limited (Agnico Eagle) is proud to introduce a special podcast series, The Arctic Edge: Stories from Canada's Frontier. The trailer is live, and listeners can subscribe now to be notified when the first two episodes drop on May 1, 2025. Hosted by award-winning journalist, Hannah Thibedeau, the podcast focuses on a series of engaging stories and insightful interviews that explore Nunavut's, and the broader Canadian North's, social, economic and environmental opportunities and responsibilities, highlighting the importance of sustainable change.

"As the Arctic region grows in strategic importance, not only for Canadians, but for many of our neighbours, it is vital that we come together as a nation to implement a comprehensive Arctic vision and strategy," says Sean Boyd, Chair of the Board, Agnico Eagle. "Our goal is that listeners of The Arctic Edge will leave with a deeper appreciation for the North's rich heritage and its immense potential."

"Agnico Eagle is deeply honoured by the opportunity to help share stories from Canada's North to a broader audience," says Ammar Al-Joundi, President & Chief Executive Officer, Agnico Eagle. "The stories shared on this podcast are engaging, insightful and moving. I am confident the podcast will spark curiosity and pride across Canada and beyond."

Nunavut is a land of immense potential, stunning landscapes and rich cultural heritage. While the future holds great promise, challenges remain that need to be addressed. Through this podcast, Agnico Eagle aims to foster meaningful discussions, and believes it is essential to ensure that Inuit voices are heard and respected.

Special guests that will be heard throughout the series include:

- Kono Tattuinee, President of Kivalliq Inuit Association
- Peter Tapatai, President of Peter's Expediting Limited
- Dennis Patterson, Former Senator for Nunavut
- Mads Qvist Frederiksen, Executive Director, Arctic Economic Council
- Scott Clancy, Former Director General for the Royal Canadian Air Force
- Sean Boyd, Chair of the Board, Agnico Eagle

Listen to the trailer and subscribe to The Arctic Edge so you don't miss the first two episodes dropping on May 1, 2025, by visiting: <https://thearcticedge.ca/>.

The podcast will be available in English wherever you listen to podcasts, including Apple Podcasts and Spotify. The podcast will also be available in Inuktitut, date of release to be announced.
