CSG Invotas to Participate in the Black Hat USA 2014

Executives to Demonstrate the Art of Deception as a Defense Strategy

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- CSG Invotas, the enterprise security business from CSG International \(NASDAQ: CSGS\), today announced its participation in Black Hat USA 2014.

This year, Black Hat USA hits its 17-year anniversary in Las Vegas. The event brings the brightest minds in cybersecurity together for six days of learning, networking, and skills-building. Throughout the event, executives from CSG Invotas will discuss and demonstrate the ways organizations can respond to security threats and breaches faster and more efficiently by orchestrating enterprise-wide processes and automating repetitive tasks. The team will also have personnel onsite to recruit fresh talent in the security architecture and software development arenas.

Invotas experts will show how implementing automated threat response frameworks can reduce costs and close attack windows—which can decrease exposure from days to mere seconds. Executives and architects will be available for one-on-one meetings; they will also demonstrate practical use cases that can save hundreds of hours of security analyst time and improve resiliency. Participants will learn how to:

- Respond in seconds to spear-phishing attacks by using current security tools
- Contain and remediate data exfiltration in seconds to reduce exposure
- Reduce outages from DDOS attacks by implementing automated cyber playbooks
- Mitigate malware attacks in minutes
- Use threat intelligence to respond faster and with more confidence
