City of Centennial, Colorado, Renews Jacobs' Contract for Critical Infrastructure Services

2025-08-28

Long-term agreement to power intelligent transportation systems and build future-ready city infrastructure

DALLAS, Aug. 28, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- Jacobs (NYSE: J) was awarded a 15-year contract renewal from the City of Centennial, Colorado, to continue delivering vital public works services that enhance safety and livability for more than 110,000 residents.

Under the agreement, Jacobs will maintain oversight of critical city infrastructure services, including operations related to public works, traffic engineering, street rehabilitation, code enforcement, facilities management and the city's 2,800-light streetlight program.

"The agreement builds on Jacobs' 17-year legacy of delivering innovative solutions for the city and will help shape a more resilient and adaptable infrastructure system," said Executive Vice President Greg Fischer. "Our extensive experience serving the city enables us to anticipate evolving needs while staying aligned with the community's priorities. Together, we've established a model public-private partnership built on a unified, shared vision for the future."

Jacobs will play a key role in advancing the city's strategic vision, using PA Consulting to promote Centennial's goals to be future-ready. The initiative will focus on strengthening transportation and digital infrastructure — including streamlined traffic operations and preparation of the city's intelligent transportation system — to drive connectivity between I-25 corridor businesses and Centennial City Park, improve accessibility, enable real-time traffic management and prepare for the adoption of autonomous equipment.

"Centennial's partnership with Jacobs has been a cornerstone of our ability to deliver reliable, high-quality services for our residents," said Centennial Mayor Stephanie Piko. "Together, we are investing in smarter infrastructure, safer streets and more connected neighborhoods — all essential to keeping Centennial a vibrant, forward-looking community."

Since 2008, Jacobs has modernized Centennial's infrastructure and advanced smart city initiatives. The Centennial Public Works Department's recent reaccreditation from the American Public Works Association underscores the ongoing success of this nationally recognized collaboration for methods of delivering high-quality services.
