The framework supports delivery across the U.K. and international government estates.

The four-year framework

enables central government departments and a wide range of public sector organizations to procure services more efficiently, supporting the delivery of infrastructure and built environment programs that underpin economic growth and essential services.

Jacobs has been appointed across eight lots covering a broad range of construction and infrastructure services:

- Lot 1: General infrastructure and built environment
- Lot 2: Architectural
- Lot 3: Project management
- Lot 5: Defense
- Lot 7: International

- Lot 9a: Flood risk and asset management – technical services (England)
- Lot 9b: Flood risk and asset management – environmental services (England)
- Lot 9c: Flood risk and asset management – commercial and program services (England)

The framework supports delivery across the U.K. and international government estates.

Jacobs Executive Vice President Richard Sanderson said: “Building on our role on the previous framework, this latest appointment expands our ability to support the U.K. public sector in delivering complex infrastructure and capital programs at scale. By bringing together our program management, technical advisory and design capabilities, we help asset owners improve delivery performance and achieve better long-term outcomes for communities and taxpayers.”

Through the framework, public sector asset owners can access Jacobs’ multidisciplinary services, including program and project management, engineering and design, technical advisory, architecture, asset management and sustainability support. These services support improved delivery certainty, integration across programs and whole-life value for infrastructure investments.

The appointment builds on Jacobs’ track record supporting U.K. government frameworks and major infrastructure programs. Jacobs was previously named as a supplier on the Crown Commercial Service’s latest Management Consultancy Framework, providing advisory services to support infrastructure delivery, improve value from public investment and advance major national programs.

GCA is the U.K.’s central commercial and procurement organization, connecting public and private sectors to achieve the best outcomes for the U.K. and its citizens. GCA uses its commercial expertise to create a simpler procurement experience that redirects valuable resources into essential public services – creating value for the nation.
