The first scheduled conference will take place on June 4 at www.VirtualInvestorConferences.com and will feature live webcast presentations by senior executives from OTCQX-traded community banks as they showcase their investment stories and answer questions from investors. Investors will be able to interact directly with the presenters and other participants online as well as watch pre-recorded materials and download annual reports, investor kits, surveys and other information from a virtual "exhibit hall." Archived webcasts will be available after the event.

"As strong believers in electronic networks and the power of technology and transparency to transform investing, we are pleased to partner with VirtualInvestorConferences.com and PR Newswire to host our first ever virtual investor conference for OTCQX banks which will help introduce these well-managed, shareholder-focused companies to more investors," said Jason Paltrowitz, Executive Vice President – Corporate Services of OTC Markets Group. "VirtualInvestorConferences.com is another online option for our community of public companies to conveniently connect in real-time with individual and institutional investors."

"By inviting investors, worldwide, to directly connect with their issuers, OTC Markets Group is demonstrating exceptional leadership and creativity," said John Viglotti, VP, Investor Relations Products and Services at PR Newswire. "Being 100% online, VirtualInvestorConferences.com is geographically agonistic for both presenters and investors, allowing senior executives from a community bank in Virginia, for example, to easily find active investors in Oregon. We're especially pleased that the OTCQX Banks Virtual Investor Conference marks our 50th event. It's a double milestone."

The following banks will present in the OTCQX Banks Virtual Investor Conference on June 4:

- California Bank of Commerce (CA) (OTCQX: CABC)
