The CubeSmart Mobile App enables customers to manage their self storage experience from wherever they are. MALVERN, Pa., Sept. 02, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Today, CubeSmart (NYSE: CUBE), the third-largest owner and operator of self-storage properties in the United States, introduces the CubeSmart Mobile App, a simple, convenient option for customers to manage their storage experience. Utilizing the CubeSmart Mobile App, customers have the ability to access their gate code, pay bills, set up AutoPay, check account balances and payment history, manage passwords, and receive push notifications with important information – all from the convenience of their mobile phone.

“Our goal is to make our customers’ storage experience as easy as possible, giving them options to interact with us in the way that they prefer,” said Christopher P. Marr, President and Chief Executive Officer of CubeSmart. “This mobile app is our newest way of enhancing the customer experience by enabling them to control nearly all of their rental needs from their own device.”

The CubeSmart Mobile App was created with the customer in mind. It is designed to put things such as access codes and account status at their fingertips and remove any stress they may have about forgotten bills, misplaced codes, or office hours. Now, customers can control and manage many of their regular interactions with CubeSmart in a contact-free manner, anytime, anywhere. For existing customers, CubeSmart provides the app as a single, digital location to manage their storage needs – from checking their account status and preferences to receiving notifications.
