IGT and Atlantic Lottery Sign Eight-Year Video Lottery Central System Technology Agreement

2025-06-25

Atlantic Lottery to leverage IGT's next-generation, cloud-based IntelligenEVO technology to enhance system performance and player experience

LONDON, June 25, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- International Game Technology PLC (NYSE: IGT) announced today that its subsidiary, IGT Canada Solutions ULC (hereinafter "IGT"), signed an eight-year agreement with Atlantic Lottery to supply its IntelligenEVO™ video lottery central system technology across Atlantic Canada. The agreement includes the option for multiple extensions and positions the Atlantic Lottery to become the first World Lottery Association ("WLA")-affiliated lottery operator to deploy IGT's next-generation central management system in a game-to-system ("G2S") distributed market.

"By leveraging IGT's IntelligenEVO technology, Atlantic Lottery will power its video lottery network with the industry's best-in-class central system and position itself to maximize future contributions to good causes," said Michael MacKinnon, Atlantic Lottery VP, Product. "As an organization that prioritizes system security and exceptional player experiences, Atlantic Lottery believes that IGT's IntelligenEVO solution will help generate high player satisfaction and optimal network performance."

"As a long-time supplier to Atlantic Lottery, IGT looks forward to helping the Lottery achieve its growth and player engagement goals with our leading-edge IntelligenEVO video lottery central system," said David Flinn, IGT SVP Canada, EMEA and LATAM, Gaming Sales. "IGT's IntelligenEVO is a scalable technology for the WLA market that is backed by decades of experience and operator feedback, and maximizes the benefits of real-time data, cloud-based technologies and in-depth analytics."

With peak system security, network availability and responsible gaming functionalities, IntelligenEVO is a reliable, scalable solution that can meet the needs of today and in the future. The solution will accelerate time-to-market and enables the Atlantic Lottery to benefit from the system's suite of player-focused functionality. The technology's G2S and open API design optimizes data collection and delivery and will enable Atlantic Lottery to customize their program for evolving player needs.
