The HSA Authority at Old National Bank ranked first by Morningstar

2018-11-20

Fort Wayne, Ind. – Morningstar, Inc. announced that The HSA Authority at Old National Bank was ranked number one of the 10 largest HSAs available to individuals. Morningstar is a leading investment research firm that compiles and analyzes fund, stock and general market data.

Morningstar's report, published November 12, was built upon last year's research, that evaluates and ranks 10 of the largest HSAs available to individuals and articulates what they consider industry best practices. Morningstar named The HSA Authority at Old National the only provider to receive a positive assessment as both a spending vehicle and an investment vehicle.

According to Morningstar's Leo Acheson, CFA, the plans were evaluated assuming two distinct use cases: HSAs as a spending vehicle to cover current medical costs, and HSAs as an investment vehicle to save for future medical expenses. "We consider The HSA Authority the best HSA plan for spenders and investors," said Acheson.

"We are extremely proud to earn this high-level national ranking," said Ruste Pontenberg, HSA Sales Manager, Vice President, Old National Bank. "Two of the keys to our success are providing our clients education on health care money management along with superior client care. We partner with brokers and clients in creating and maintaining an innovative and customized HSA solution."
