

LATAM group transported 7.7 million passengers in October

Operating statistics for October 2025

Santiago, November 11, 2025 - During October, LATAM group transported 7.7 million passengers, representing a 7.7% increase compared to October 2024. Year-to-date, the group has carried 72.2 million passengers between January and October 2025, 6.7% more than in the same period of 2024.

During October, LATAM group increased its consolidated capacity, measured in available seat-kilometers (ASK), by 7.4% compared to the same period of 2024. This growth was mainly driven by a 13.2% increase in LATAM Airlines Brazil's domestic capacity, where four new routes were launched during the month, as well as a 7.2% increase in international operations, which included the inauguration of the route between São Paulo (Guarulhos) in Brazil and Córdoba in Argentina.

Consolidated traffic, measured in revenue passenger-kilometers (RPK), increased by 7.2% compared to October 2024, with growth across all segments. Once again, LATAM Airlines Brazil's domestic market demand stood out with a 14.8% year-over-year increase. As a result, the group's consolidated load factor reached 85.5%, remaining at very solid levels.

In terms of cargo operations, capacity measured in available ton-kilometers (ATK) reached 710 million, remaining at similar levels to the same month of the previous year.

The following table summarizes the main operating statistics for the month and year-to-date as of October for the main LATAM group business segments:
